LAST EDITION ARE LOOKING FOR IRON.

Representatives of Englishmen on the Iron Range Today.

Stated to be Looking Over Properties That Are Offered

With a Possibility of Trying to Place Them in England.

SENATE COMMERCE COMMITTEE. It is probable that it is the collector of the port of Chicago.

The Vermilion range has long offered a field for the investment of immense amounts of capital. The iron deposits are practically inexhaustible, and with full development of the various mines, this region could control the price and output of Bessemer ore for the entire United States.

English capital, seeking remunerative investment in this country, has long been directed by its agents to this wealth of iron and negotiations for the transfer of different iron lands in the Vermilion to English syndicates have been at various times opened and even carried to a point where a number of people expected, but have all failed through from one cause or another. Sometime ago a syndicate from across the water solicited from Mr. Grimes, from Grimes' property, to fail to respond to the nomination of John M. Clark as collector of the port of Chicago. This nomination has been strongly antagonized by Senator Farwell, whose supporters rejected it by a large majority of the Senate.

The favor of Clark, the latter being the favorite of George M. Pullman and Sam W. Allerton, the cattle magnate, and both of whom control the iron trade, to the great regret of the English.

Senator Farwell is very popular on both sides of the senate chamber, and there is little doubt but that he is responsible for the success of the proposed nomination.

Whether he will go to this extreme will largely depend upon the attitude of the committee, which meets this afternoon.

The higher branch of Masonry are growing rapidly in Duluth both in number and strength and this chapter is a success in addition. There are now many members of the Mystic Shrine in Duluth.

THE POLES IN REMEMBRANCE.
Last Night's Ceremonies in Remembrance of the Battle of Warsaw.

The Duluth Polish societies held an anniversary celebration last night commemorating the second Warsaw insurrection, which took place in 1833. At 9 a. m. services were held at the Polish Catholic church; in the evening at 7:30 there were vespers at the church, after which there was a largely-attended meeting at the school house.

The meeting was presided over by M. Hoppa, who explained the object of the Polish Society to render a song.

Theo. M. Helinski, the orator of the evening was then introduced.

Mr. Helinski spoke of the history of the insurrection of 1833, and went back to the first partition of Poland.

The insurrection was the effect of the Polish spirit, which had been born in the religious regeneration of the country again.

The unhappy position of Poland by comparison of other nations, Europe, was fully explained.

The Polish state of the country was a question of life and death, given being so situated geographically Poland was regarded as the gate of Europe through which the wild hordes of Asia entered Europe, and the Poles had to smite the fierce hordes and bear the frequent invasions of the intruders. Consequently it was always necessary to keep up a strong army.

This is why the center is always in a disturbed condition, and hence the people were unable to cultivate the arts or sciences, or enjoy the same educational advantages as the rest of Europe.

The Poles in this country are generally taken by Americans as the representatives of the Polish nation. The Polish class of citizens here represent mostly the poor laboring class. Their education is very seldom in their native country unless they come in contact with the government through some interference with governmental affairs.

The speaker said the Polish people here conduct themselves in a peaceful and orderly manner, so as to gain the good will and respect of the American people, and to enjoy the same educational advantages as the rest of Europe.

The audience was greatly interested in the speech of Mr. Farwell, who was 68 years old, his learned wife and one son, James Adam Jr., who will succeed to his immense circus property.

The speaker said the Poles have been delayed.

ADAM FOREPAUGH DIES.

The Grip Cars of the Most Extensive Circus Owner; His Life.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—Adam Forepaugh, the veteran circus manager, died yesterday at his residence in Philadelphia. He was 80 years old.

Mr. Forepaugh was originally a butcher, but many years ago he embarked in the circus business, in which he was very successful, getting a fortune in the world, with which he amasses a fortune which is estimated at more than $1,000,000. He was a real large employer of men, and Forepaugh's grip cars, which he founded, were soon to be seen throughout the country.

The grip cars were originally built by him for his own personal use, except to pay buying stocks in western gold mines, though one company has bought Minnesota mining property.

The grip cars were first used in 1869, and the name was soon adopted for the new departure for English investments and the stated negotiations for these Vernon properties seems like an attempt to gain a strong interest in the place.

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

The Course of Prices in a Dull Market on Duluth's Board.

Large Shipments of Corn; Much Coarse Grain Expected Soon.

The wheat market was rather quiet today, with no features of any importance to affect prices. In other markets there was more attention paid to corn and oats, which bulged up considerably, than to wheat. Cables were steady, exports were light.

May here opened the same as yesterday's close, advanced  $\frac{1}{4}$  cent, closed  $\frac{1}{2}$  cent below the opening. Cash No. 1 hard closed at \$78 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; No. 1 northern, \$6. No. 2 northern, \$23; January No. 1 hard \$78 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; No. 1 northern \$23; May, \$27 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Opened at \$80, sold up to \$82, declined to \$83 $\frac{1}{2}$ , advanced to \$84, closed off at \$83 $\frac{1}{2}$ , bid, May No. 1 northern closed at \$82 $\frac{1}{2}$ .

The Daily Movement.
Carson track: Wheat 4. Inspection car: Northern, 2500 bushels out for export. One, 2250 bushels. Minneapolis cars, 152, against 118 yesterday, and 27 a week ago. Receipts there, $80,000 bushels. Wheat, 44,660, two hours after closing. Exports from the seaport were only 11,672 bushels. Chicago received 22,244 bushels of wheat and shipped 10,523 bushels, and Milwaukee received 17,843 and shipped 11,000 bushels.

Corn shipments.

Twenty-four bushels of corn were expected out of storage yesterday for shipment East. Nearly all the corn now in store will be shipped to the East via the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic within a short time. Extreme measures are to be taken before the opening of navigation. It is probable that quite a quantity of oats will be received here and shipped East over the next few weeks. The majority of grain shipped East over the Zenith City line shows that the roads running to this city with that line are becoming more aggressive competitors of the Chicago lines for the traffic. A large portion of the corn and oats to be shipped to the southwest of Duluth. All the corn coming here is brought in by the Eastern.

The Lower Court.

At the police court this afternoon P. J. Krupp, whose case has been pending some time, was fined $1 and costs four months in the third degree, the total amount being $1.20.

A civil case that is attracting a good deal of attention today is one in which Anton Schulte of the Mineau and Anton Hause, the defendant. The complainant being Richard McGuire. The latter it appears bought the furniture and fixtures of the hotel three or four days before his trial began when he came to do so found a quantity of the furniture had been abstracted. The whole business is a muddle and there are about a score of persons involved, and both sides, J. B. Cotton is conducting the plaintiff's case and S. D. Allen is counsel for the defendant.

ANOTHER GONE WRONG.

A School District Treasurer who Clears out With the Cash.

Last night the officers of Pike Lake took out of their miles back of town were soon in Duluth and Superior for School Treasurer Nolan, who suddenly left town with $10 of the district's money. He was seen in Duluth by several, but was traced across the bay and was there last sight of Nolan is a farmer, and has lived for some time at Pike lake, and for a week building a new home and this takes with other facts of the use of a good deal of cash led neighbors to think he was using more money than he ought to. About two weeks ago Wm. McConville, a school board member of the school board, and S. D. Allen is counsel for the defendant.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

If you want to build in Endion consider the following:

Feodor Luerzer, artist from Vienna, Vienna, has opened studio in Endion block, No. 13. His pictures are fully able to stand the test, although it will come hard to pay it out. It is still quite possible that they may receive a fair price.

The funds of the district were formerly kept in Endion & Austin's bank, but there is nothing there now, and a few days ago Mr. Nolan applied to the bank for a loan of $100. He had lost the documents. Banker Bell issued a duplicate bank book, but the vouchers were not re-issued.

JES LAYIN' LOW.

They had the Cream and Don't care to "Cross" a few.

The herald several weeks ago stated that there was liable to be war between representatives of cyclopedias. The war seems to have come on. The Wisconsin agents, located at St. Paul, real estate dealers, the Wisconsin follows him well thirty or forty cents of that expense work here.

When the Minnesota people sent their agents here they found the field thoroughly, filled with the descendants. These are now emigrating and recompensations and threatened exposures, in the midst of all which the Wisconsin agents are following the advice of Bro. Remus, yes, for a man's lot is nayin' nuthin', while they are nayin' the Nash captured from under the noses of their sonnant St. Paul brethren.

PERSONAL.
Mrs. R. Hall left today for several days' sojourn in San Francisco.

EPISCOPALS PROTEST.

Bishop Bare Says it is Right to Use Fermented Wine.

New York Bishop反对禁止酒令。

Bishop W. H. Bare of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of South Dakota: against that section of the prohibition bill now before the legislature which prohibits the use of wine for sacramental purposes in churches, promises to attract national interest among members of the Episcopal and other denominations.

The church leaders and members of the laity who have been interviewed in this city, denounced the clause in the bill in question as meaningless, terms and express surprise that the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the State Prohibition League should array themselves against the church and insist upon the clause being retained.

Chairman of the House Committee on Manufactures, Mr. George F. Hoar of Massachusetts, has proposed a bill to amend the original bill so that it would not prohibit the use of wine at the altar for sacramental purposes.

Hoar's bill, however, has not been introduced.

It is believed that the chairman of the committee on Manufactures will introduce his bill in time to meet the opposition of the same party as the one passed Nov. 23, with a single change.

The new resolution provided for the issuance of bonds to the amount of $500,000.

Call for City Republican Convention. All duly elected delegates to the city republican convention will meet in the council room of the city hall, Duluth, Minnesota, on Jan. 25, 1890, at 10 a.m. The names of the nomination republican candidates for the various offices are as follows:

A GRAVE MISTAKE.

In advance of the action of the republican party convention, and before it is possible to determine whether such action will be acceptable to all good citizens, whatever their individual preferences may be, Alderman Davis, as we are informed, has accepted an independent nomination and "will probably not go into the republican convention." Mr. Davis is, of course, at liberty to do as he chooses, but we regard his determination as a grave mistake at this juncture. The republicans of this city can scarcely be expected to put in nomination a man who does not count himself among them, who declines to take any part in their deliberations, who distrusts the wisdom of their decision before he bears it and puts his self-assertion in place of the concord of opinion of a representative convention. The Herald has always been ready to support the assertion of just and timely and unselfish and honorable independence, but it has never seen cause for casting a slight on the judgment of a party before it is given, and that party must be uncommonly loquacious which accepts the slight and honors the giver.

In viewing the case, we do not reflect at all upon the independent candidate's integrity, or his entire personal freedom to do as he chooses in regard to acting with the republican party. He is not restrained by any considerations except discretion and regard for the probable advantage of the city from entering the field when and how he likes, and accepting any nominations which he can get. If he thinks the city as a whole is likely to benefit from the contest of several candidates, and the consequent distraction and division of votes, he is about to make his run for the benefit of the city in his own mind, whatever the actual issue and effect may be. We do not presume to read his conscience, nor to determine how far even a good man may be influenced by personal ambition, unreasonable prejudices or unfounded fears that the republican party has lost its head, and that the city will be well cared for in no other hands than his.

We are aware that The Herald makes these remarks at the risk of being branded as one of the "gang," and that the coming municipal campaign is gravely declared to be "a contest of the people against the gang." This careful separation of the sheep from the goats in Duluth would mark that all not ranged behind Alderman Davis in his present course must be content to be counted among the goats. The Herald is for one, and fully believes that the "gang" it belongs to is likely to be counted as the people when the returns are in. Vituperation is senseless. The people in this city see, hear, think, and judge for themselves. We are willing to abide their verdict.

What will Duluth boys do next? Not allowed to slide down hill, and now arrested for snowballing. Life is indeed a burden.

Perhaps iron mining doesn't pay, but a dividend of over 20 per cent on one year's business would seem to prove the contrary. One of the largest dividends ever paid by an iron mining company has been declared by the directors of the Metropolitan Iron & Land company, which operates the Great Norrie, the East Norrie and Pabst mines. A cash dividend of $6.50 per share of $25 has just been made. The capital stock of $2,000,000 has been divided into 80,000 shares, entitling a dividend of $50 per share means the distribution of $400,000 among the stockholders. January stock lists give the market value of the stock at $65 per share, but it is now nearer $75. Some stockholders will receive a profit from this one dividend. One man bought 7000 shares for $60,000, and now he will receive $45,500 in a lump as his share of a single year's profits. In his annual report President Cherry says that there were shipped from the mine of the company, in 1889, 771,279 tons of which the Norrie contributed 556,046 tons. This mine alone is capable of producing fully 70,000 tons the coming season. The East Norrie mine produced 117,443 tons during 1889, and can produce during the coming season fully 175,000 tons.

A PRISONER'S REFLECTIONS.

"Well, it seems clear to be free again, after nearly eight months' confinement in that hole."—John C. Gandy, a prisoner in the state prison at St. Paul, was released yesterday after the jury announced he was not guilty. "That's the first day I ever had been confined in it and I'm not used to it," said Gandy. "I have been here many years, but never was a bluster-headed man than Head Judge Richard Long, or 'Uncle Dick,' as we call him. It's terribly monotonous in there; a student's work outside world comes in every day. The walls are all white, all the time long the tridental sound is the clangor which must come from a lot of prisoners in a steel cage."

"I used to take a walk with before-tight men just for exercise, you know. That statement seems queer, does it? Well, 300 times the length of the cage corridor, forward and back is 18 feet over a mile, so I used to walk up and down just 300 times for an appetizer. I did exercise, though, and pounds were taken off me. Time hung heavy on our hands, and a new prisoner was quite a welcome comrade. The farmers of Kittenaer county are getting their eyes opened, and are pushing the organization of alliances. This is certainly the only means of protection for the farmer, and the sooner the state alliance can say to the subordinates "We have fought and conquered," just so soon will the farmers be more than a match for the world."

WORLD OF COMMERCE,

The Course of Prices in a Dull Market on Duluth's Board.

Large Shipments of Corn; Much Coarse Grain Expected Soon.

Today's wheat prices were weak and lower, showing a big break. There were sellers in all American markets and the market was very inactive, showing a reflection of what other places. No points of strength came in during the day. Cables were weak and exports small.

Cash No. 1 hard was nominally \$1 lower, closing at \$78, and January 1st at the same price. Cash and January No. 1 northern closed at \$78. Cash No. 2 northern closed at \$73 nominal. May opened at \$35 $\frac{1}{2}$ , nominal with the first sale about noon at \$35 $\frac{1}{2}$ . May 19th was \$35 $\frac{1}{2}$ . May No. 1 northern closed at \$79 bid. February corn closed at \$20 $\frac{1}{2}$ , May at \$31 $\frac{1}{2}$ , both nominal.

Hutchinson's Boys Too Sharp. Hutchinson reported on the board of trade that the son-in-law of Mr. Benjamin Peters Hutchinson, formerly Old Hutch, of a series of cross trades made to a certain broker, have resulted in a very large sum of money. Mr. Hutchinson was on the board this morning, but there appears to be no doubt that he has been made the victim of his boys. Nothing else was talked of this morning by the "bulls."

Chicago Goods.

The following dispatches are over the private wires of W. W. Bill, successor to Press, Wheeler & Lewis:

Chicago, Jan. 23.—The market is inactive, weak and lower. An effort was made at the opening to support the market, but the selling by several prominent houses was impossible. The news of export purchases in New York amounting to thirteen bushels, and that sales of flour for South American and other points were unusually large, were the main factors that led to the advance. Even on an otherwise market the bulls lack the enthusiasm and courage necessary to force shorts to cover. Yesterday's gains may be lost, and there are indications of good buying orders at that figure. From 50 down there has been good buying at round figures, and if the market is forced to new ground, say below 80, it may become very weak.

Corn, inactive and lower. Packers were the principal sellers, the buying out of the market having a contrary trend. Indications favor some decline before any further advance.

Political Aftermath.

Mr. Brady Declines to Run; Democratic Nomination.

A new candidate for alderman has appeared in the Fourth ward, in the person of T. T. Hudson, the law firm of Jacobson, Hudson. Unless the republican banner is to be given up, the republican city will present the novel sight of two democrats running against each other in the same ward, with one to oppose them. Mr. Hudson will probably be the regular democratic nominee, while Robert L. Jones will run as independent democrat.

Mr. A. W. Bradley requests The Herald to print the names of the candidates for the mayorship of Duluth. The republican city will present the novel sight of two democrats running against each other in the same ward, with one to oppose them. Mr. Hudson will probably be the regular democratic nominee, while Robert L. Jones will run as independent democrat.

Informal Convention.

Politics almost everything else today. Little known has gathered on the streets during the session of the legislature. Especially in this case in the city hall. Several of the officers are for the time being transformed into informal political conventions. At the West End the excitement is greater than here.

The Duluth Milk & Produce Company.

The consolidated wholesale milk company of F. A. LAST NIGHT'S LECTURE.
Burdick's Temperance Lecture Last Night
a Very Powerful Effort.

As usual the meeting was opened by singing in the choir. Rev. Mr. Noyes read portions of scripture, which was followed by prayer by Rev. Mr. Hain of the German Methodist church.

Mr. Burdick began by saying there was something very encouraging in the movement, which resulted in a score of years. To illustrate the permanence of temperance movements he related his experience a few years since. He was engaged earnestly in the work. Of course many who signed the pledge only five broke it. A Law and Order League was organized. The first man who violated the excise law was given thirty days' imprisonment, he did the same thing and got six months, which resulted in his release. The next day he was released except through the church. Of several thousand who have reformed as the result of his work, and were not brought into the church, he is not sure. Where the church did not interest itself in the work the salesmen are not closed.

The way to get men to think is to let them see their own shape as it is continued on the young men of the country. Those who are selling liquor are for it the money they get from the young men. You can't blame the whole business. A mechanic at Wheeling, W. Va., complained to the speaker he could lay claim to the same. He was spending $100 yearly at and in connection with the saloon. The man who gave him Rochester only 13 years ago, guilty of every vice on the part of the saloon, is now a member of the church.

The new England roads have decided to meet in the winter. The railroads between Chicago and the Northwest have never been so far apart as those of the New England roads. It is expected that the Chicago-St. Paul lines will adopt the same rates as the New England roads.

The Burlington & Northern has instructed its agents to meet any rate quoted at a passenger's office. Another reduction will probably be made in the Paul-Chicago rates, and the second-class rates will be reduced to 15 cents. St. Paul may yet come to it.

The new Wagon buffet car to be run in the service of the Zenith City Short line, will be ready for use the 31st of this month, and one of them will be sent to this city next Friday.

Those who fail to hear Mr. Burdick miss an opportunity.

REPUBLICANS NOMINATE

Martin O. Hall Nominated by the Republicans in Convention.

It is a Close, Short Struggle Between Him and H. W. Pearson.

Also the Candidates for Aldermen in the Various Wards.

The republican city convention was called to order in the council chamber at 2 o'clock by Chairman M. O. Hall and the forty-two delegates were seated inside the railing, an excellent arrangement, which prevented interference from outside. There was a large attendance, the room being packed. Conspicuous by their presence were aspirants for the mayoralty and all the aldermanic candidates were there.

Harry Armstrong nominated H. C. Helm as temporary chairman, who was duly elected and took his seat. Mr. Helm said it was a surprise, but he would do his best. T. P. Beck was elected temporary secretary. One member from each ward was appointed as credential committee by the chair as follows: J. B. Cotton, chairman, Third ward; C. A. Duncan, Fourth ward; W. S. McKay, Fifth ward; G. T. Neil, Second ward; S. M. Lester, Sixth ward; Chas. Archer, First ward.

While the committee on credentials was deliberating, the audience resolved itself into an independent convention, and the relative merits of the respective candidates were freely discussed. The meeting was an extremely orderly one, however, and the best of feeling prevailed. It was emphatically a Pearson convention, though Hall and Davis supporters were not wanting. The labor element was conspicuously by its absence, those present consisting principally of business men. The county and city officers were also pretty well represented. The temporary committee on organization was made the permanent one. A committee of three was appointed by the chair as follows: J. B. Cotton, Dr. Magie and D. A. Fraser. The committee on credentials reported the delegates as elected last night, which report was duly adopted.

Delegates from the First ward named as candidates for aldermen, Jas. Dingwall and Chas. Beattie. Second ward named D. J. Sinclair. The Third ward named Geo. F. Ash. The Fourth ward, T. W. Hugo. The Fifth ward, C. O. Nelson. The Sixth ward, S. A. Sivers. and the nominations were ratified by the convention by acclamation. A committee of one from each ward will soon commence its earnest.

CHANGED TO RAIN.

The Mountain Snow now Threatens a Severe Blasting.

Sacramento, Jan. 25.—The photographic advisor to the Associated Press from thirty or more points in northern California states that heavy, warm rains have been falling since yesterday, that the snow is melting rapidly and that creeks and rivers are running down the top of their banks. A flood greater than that of a few weeks is threatened. The danger is greatest in the Sacramento, San Joaquin and Sonoma valleys.

Truxton, Cal., Jan. 25.—It is raining hard here now. This will melt the snow and make the work of raising the great snow blockade easier.

In Probability True.

Washington, Jan. 25.—The impression is gaining ground in the treasury department that the proposed reduction of the Bank of England to buy silver and issue circulating certificates is true. An official who has an intimate acquaintance with the financial affairs of world said to a reporter this morning that in his estimation there was little doubt of the fact. If this should be done, he added, it would be a good thing for the American financial market, as it would prevent large movements of silver.

There is a decided tendency away from the established banking fields towards Africa.

He predicted that before long the African mines would be the richest of all.

John Most in Jail Again.

New York, Jan. 25.—Herr John Most, the anarchist whose conviction and sentence to one year in the penitentiary was affirmed yesterday by the general court martial, was arrested today. He was captured as he was leaving the house of Mrs. Ida Hoffman, who was on his bond, pending the decision of his case.

John Most, Jr., and Harry Armstrong were appointed tellers. The first ballot resulted as follows: H. W. Pearson, 18; M. J. Davis, 12; M. O. Hall, 10; C. H. Graves, 1; Geo. Rupley, 1; R. S. Munger, 1. Formal balloting was then proceeded with. The first ballot resulted: H. W. Pearson, 18; M. O. Hall, 10; M. J. Davis, 6; Geo. Rupley, 1.

The Davis delegates at this point threw their strength in favor of Hall, which brought him into uncomfortable proximity to Pearson, and the second ballot was taken which resulted: H. W. Pearson, 21; M. O. Hall, 6; Geo. Rupley, 1.

Twenty-two being necessary to a choice, another ballot was taken, which resulted: H. W. Pearson, 19; M. O. Hall, 22; A. W. Bradley, 1. M. O. Hall was declared the nominee of the convention.

The nomination of Hall was a complete surprise, and created considerable excitement and confusion. As was perhaps quite natural there was some dissatisfaction expressed by outsiders as well as among delegates who had supported the other men, at the result of the balloting, though of course Hall's supporters were jubilant at the outcome.

Some Happy Passengers.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 25.—The western overland express train on the Central Pacific route, which has been blocked in the Sierras between Emigrant Gap and Sacramento since Jan. 17, has been released at last and passed through here from Colfax this morning en route to San Francisco.

J. A. Boggs offers profitable investments in Superior. This property will double in six months.

IN CLAIRVOYANT'S CLUTCHES.

The Toledo Forgery Case of "Madame Devere" and a Cashier.

Toledo, Jan. 25.—The preliminary hearing of Madame Devere, theclairvoyant, and Joseph Lamb, charged with the forged notes, was opened in the police court all day. Popular interest centered around the connection of Richard Brown, a wealthy master of Youngstown, with whom it is claimed is forged to the notes. Mr. Brown is evidently sweeping and entirely convincing. He was shown the forged notes, the bodies of which were forged, and the paper on which they were forged, and swore positively that he did not sign them; that he never had any financial transaction with either Lamb or Madame Devere, and that he never heard of her knowledge, till the present case came up, and that he does not know anyone else, G. Blythe.

James S. Howell has arrived from New York, W. Va., to work in the office of the Toledo Daily Blade. John Beardson, foreman of the foundry at the Iron Bay works, received a severe cut yesterday while superintending a force of men in the yard. He fell upon a sharp spike which penetrated his ear near the right eye, cutting a severe gash.

A. G. Rand, late proprietor of the General Store, died yesterday in the future of giving the business to his son, and the wife and the bank officers declared he was true to her name.

The trial developed this woman's true name, through the testimony of James S. Howell, a lawyer of Youngstown, who was a close friend of Devere.

Both Devere and Lamb were bound over to the grand jury's action, Lamb's bail being fixed at $800 and Devere's at $1000.

WILL IN LABOR RANKS.

The American Federation of Labor with Each Other.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The fight between the Knights of Labor and the Knights of Labor, which has been smoldering for some time, threatens to break out again in a few days. It does not seem to be quite so bad as the last, for the question is whether these two powerful organizations shall enjoy the supremacy will be definitely decided.

Grounds for a renewal of the conflict have been found in the non-union condition of the men employed in the largest brewing business. The Knights found the Federation successfully in 1886.

The Knights were forced to strike to the amount of $100 in the new consolidated bank.

The wife and child of Mr. Edison, the brewer, were at the Phillips home, arrived last evening from their former home, Glendale, Minn.

Prof. Stann, wife of the superintendent of the West Duluth Manufacturing company's works, is expected to return today from her visit to the northern part of the state.

H. P. Smith, cashier of the Manufacturing company's works, left yesterday from a New York grocery store buying supplies to take stock to the amount of $1000 in the new consolidated bank.

The wife and child of Mr. Edison, the brewer, were at the Phillips home, arrived last evening from their former home, Glendale, Minn.

Prof. Stann, wife of the superintendent of the West Duluth Manufacturing company's works, is expected to return today from her visit to the northern part of the state.

Robert Crombie, Dr. Jameson and Pat Parsons, returned to their home in the Ohio River valley in honor of the West Duluth banks will consolidate as a national bank as soon as the necessary papers return from Washington.

N. H. Nyhus returned yesterday from a two weeks' trip to southern Minnesota.

A pleasant party was given by the Misses Sawyer to their many friends last evening. A number of young people from Duluth came down to attend the party.

Professor Irwin of the Onota schools, has been found in the non-union condition of the men employed in the largest brewing business.

The Knights of Labor, which has been as it always was, the general body, as far as the big boss brewers, who were and are fiercely attacked by the Federation.

So well known is the brewer's organization that every facility is given to enter the ranks of that organization.

The Knights of Labor, which has been as it always was, the general body, as far as the big boss brewers, who were and are fiercely attacked by the Federation.

One result of this condition of affairs is that labor will not enter into the field of labor, and the general body, as far as the big boss brewers, who were and are fiercely attacked by the Federation.

THE CHOICE OF CANDIDATES.

Before The Herald goes to press for its last edition the selection of the republican party in this city for mayor will have been made and the candidate put fairly before the city for judgment. We have confidence that the convention will make no mistake in this matter, but that after a harmonious discussion and proper presentation of the qualifications and availability of the men who have been suggested for the place, the delegates will unite upon a choice which will command the confidence and loyal support of the party in this city. The Herald has already expressed its belief that there is no substantial public advantage and no controlling reason for the drawing of party lines in city elections, but it has also stated with equal plainness that it is practically idle to cavil at a prevailing practice at this hour, and it remains for sober-thinking men to accept the situation as it stands and govern their actions accordingly.

In a party in accordance with common precedent puts in nomination a man against whom no well-grounded objection can be justly brought and who is rightly qualified by the training of public service and years of acquaintance with the needs of a city, as well as by force of character and business ability for the place which he is called to fill on what ground will loyal party men and public-spirited citizens decline to stand behind him? Will it be because of the dread of sordid abuse and patent misrepresentation? We think not. Such methods of opposition will not weigh one jot in the minds of sober, thoughtful citizens. The party candidate will be tried in the balance of his own private and public life and deserved reputation, and if he is not found wanting, he will command the cordial and active support of every loyal republican for the place is named by a body of electors who have substantial chances of electing the man of their choice.

The question of support in practical city politics is not one of ideal preferences. It is with an election in Duluth and not in the moon with which we have to deal. To rally and justify sincere and hopeful effort behind a candidate for mayor, he must be a man who has a living chance of winning and all effort expended in the dandling of an obviously forlorn hope in a contest of this kind is apt to be worse than wasted. For the sole substantial effect of division and personal kite-flying is too often merely to distract attention from the practical issues at stake and to bring about the unnatural success of the weaker cause, the weaker party or the weaker candidate. Note clearly that we are not condemning all forlorn hopes or all vanquished even in practical politics. The case may arise when it is necessary for a man with a conscience to stand for his conviction of right, even if he stands alone. But it surely behoves him in these worldly affairs of ours to probe his own heart and assure himself beyond reasonable doubt that he is not actuated by rabid animosity, bitter pique, selfish ambition, inordinate self-esteem or invincible crankiness, rather than by a sober conviction of duty.

In the case actually before us, in the question of our own city administration for the coming term, let every honest, level-headed man look over the situation with his own eyes and for himself. Let him weigh the candidates set up for his ratification, their character, their experience, their ability, their backing and their chances of success. Let him then judge for himself for whom he will cast his vote, examining all the evidence that may be put in by their respective advocates, and taking into account all the reasons for and against the choice of any. Upon such a survey of the field and such a deliberation, he will cast his vote intelligently and rightly. If the vote of this city is so cast, no loyal citizen will quarrel with the result.

The following extract from the Pioneer Press of yesterday, which was published in the last edition of The Herald, we wish to commend to the most attentive consideration of our city fathers.

The city street force will commence this afternoon to clear the streets from the sidewalks in the principal streets where the work has not been already done by the property owners. Under an amendment to the city charter made by the legislature of 1887, it owners do not clean their walks within twenty-four hours, the city engineer is required to do so and return a sworn statement of the cost to the county auditor, who will collect from the property owners the amount necessary to other assessments are collected.

Now if our own charter does not admit of the like requirement from property owners, as has been stated in the council as an excuse for dilatoriness, what is there to prevent the city from undertaking and executing the clearing of its business portion at least, in use by the public generally, at the charge of the general city fund for such purposes? This can be done either with or without a special vote of the council. All that the public cares for is that it shall be done, and done without any more waste words.

The Herald is getting a great many, a very great many, answers to its guessing contest on the population of Duluth, and the contest is exciting a great deal of talk and interest. But so far, with but few exceptions, there have been not more than one guess from one person. Bear in mind that you can guess a hundred times a day if you choose, but that every guess, regardless of upon whom, and the contest is exciting a great deal of talk and interest. But so far, with but few exceptions, there have been not more than one guess from one person. Bear in mind that you can guess a hundred times a day if you choose, but that every guess, regardless of upon whom, and the contest is exciting a great deal of talk and interest. This is what may be truly called literary success.

THEY'RE NEARING HOME.

The Two Young Women Who Have Been Flying Around the Earth.

Nelle Bly's Struggles for Work in the Literary World.

Elizabeth Bisland Scored Many Successes on a Monthly.

"Nelle Bly," probably the first to reach home of the two young women who are now "putting a girlie 'round about the earth," is a Pittsburgh girl. She has been engaged in writing for newspapers a little more than three years. Her first attempt to gain a livelihood with her pen was made in 1886 on The Pittsburgh Dispatch. She had written a communication to that journal on the condition of the workingwomen in the city, and there was so much original thought in it that she was requested to send her article to the editor. As a result the woman engaged to follow up several of the suggestions she had made.

Her first important venture was a trip to Mexico where she travelled for six months, learning to speak Spanish with fair fluency in that time. When Miss Bly returned to Pittsburgh she was put in charge of the society column of the Dispatch, alternating this work with writing theatrical notices and criticisms, and in articles on women's work.

Itching for a larger field she received letters of introduction to New York from newspaper men, and started for the city. Arrived there she presented her letters and was given several large chunks of fatherly advice and the cheerful suggestion that she would do a big business and ought to go home.

She didn't go, but sought out the managing editor of The Mail and Express. It was just at this time that Andrew Carnegie had turned his back on a bride, and it was intimated that if Miss Bly could interview Mrs. Carnegie such service might be acceptable. No hope was held out that such a woman would be successful, as most experienced New York interviewers had tried it and failed.

By perseverance and the exercise of a little feminine diplomacy she obtained an exhaustive talk with the boy, touching upon every subject of interest.

Like all beginners in newspaper work in the big city, Miss Bly spent that period when it appeared that there was no room for her under the sun to write about. She thought and thought, and tried and tried, but had rebuffs. She was boarding at a modest little hotel near the Hudson River, where the fare was just about generous enough to support life. Cheap as this living was, it could not be paid for without an income. The sole one of these the girl had hoarded with the utmost care.

Her purse,

every dollar she possessed. This misfortune did not discourage her, and she was too proud to make her loss known. Every day she walked six to eight miles to save car fares. The situation began to look desperate, but nothing could be done without much trouble, so she wrote about many things, and sent them to every editor in New York. After the exercise of patient perseverance, interviews were obtained with the editors of The Herald, Sun, Times and Tribune. Not one of them believed that Nelle Bly would be profitable.

Then the young woman, who refused to be disclosed, bettered her offer to Joseph Pulitzer. It took him fifteen minutes to make up his mind that Nelle Bly might be made useful. He engaged her at $100 a week, and directed her to depart for the insane asylum of Blackwells Island, ostensibly as a patient, and describe its workings thoroughly.

These instructions resulted in one of the most remarkable stories of its kind ever told.

For three days she rehearsed her part. She bought books on insanity and read carefully at them. She combed her hair, and practised rolling her eyes and contorting her features until she knew her part. It had been agreed that she should wait in the asylum for six days, with the name of a patient, before appearing in the streets with her new identity.

As a result the woman engaged to follow up several of the suggestions she had made.

The girl had hoarded with the utmost care.

Her purse,

and with

it made the circuit of the world theretofore in seventy-two days. Her real name is Elizabeth Bisland.

Elizabeth Bisland, the other venture some globe trotter, is a clever girl from New Orleans, whose veins runs strong in the blood of our countrymen, and has married herself to a man who has already won for her a recognized position among the American women of letters. Starting at a news' notice in the Cosmopolitan, and having a number of publications which have come to her acquaintance, the plucky girl never stopped inquiring into the editorial why or wherefore, nor did she wait until six months, nor did she wait until she could get a job, and strapped on a tiny bag that could be easily stowed away in carriage or cabin. Miss Bisland undertook this tour of the world, flying to the West, expecting to find her rival somewhere in the Orient.

Outside of the circle of literature Miss Bisland has not been much talked of, as she is, as above stated, from New Orleans, and is not family related to the illustrious members of the world.

One of the few she has met is noted for her beauty as far as her literary attainments. Although much has been spent on a plantation, she has the energy and vivacity found among New York women. On The Cosmopolitan Magazine Miss Bisland has scored many successes as a book reviewer, and in advertising, and she has been invited to the inauguration of a series of articles of "Life in New York." The Onteora Club, "Tuxedo," "Co-operative Housekeeping," "The Flower Market of New York," and in the last number of magazine has a beautifully illustrated article on "Famous Beauties." She lives in a little home which is daintily arranged in its interior. When she began her trip through the United States, she had arranged to be employed regularly after she was to be engaged to the Cosmopolitan Magazine. Being still quite young and a beginner, she may be said to enter a literary career with a bright prospect.

Outside of the circle of literature Miss Bisland has not been much talked of, as she is, as above stated, from New Orleans, and is not family related to the illustrious members of the world.

A SPLENDID STATEMENT.

The Associated Banks' Weekly Statement Shows Easy Money.

The Markets for Grain and Stocks are Lower Than Ever.

There was another decided break in wheat today, caused by the selling of long lines. The break here all came at the opening, which was  $\frac{1}{2}$  cent below last night's close. After that there was a firming up of  $\frac{1}{2}$  cent, which was soon lost and up to the day a very weak feeling prevailed.

There seems to be a selling mania all over the place. This is evident in the break and in the absence of all tall news operators there have been having little trouble in putting prices lower. The decline here for the week was a full cent.

No hard cash in January closed at 75¢ nominal. No hard cash at 73¢ nominal; May opened at 82 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢, firming up to 82 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢, declined again to 82 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢, continued weak and closed at 82 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ sellers; May No. 1 northern closed and closed at 82 $\frac{1}{2}$ ¢.

Chicago Closes.
The following is from the special wire of W. W. Bill & Co., dealers in stocks:

This is a bull market and everything now points to a higher price. Combinations have been great and are preparing themselves for a rising market and the developments this week indicate beyond a doubt that the bears have had their day. The bank statement today was a pleasant surprise, showing a balance in the surplus reserve of over $7,000,000. This assures ease money and in connection with the increasing inquiry for stocks puts us in a position to be bullish than it has been for six months.

Chicago is holding the buying line side. May expect occasional reactions but the grain, Vanderbilts and low priced stocks generally are good at current prices or any concessions.

Chicago Wheat.
The following statements are over the private wires of W. W. Bill & Co., successor to Preiss, Wheeler & Ladd:

Wheat, active, lower. The prices passed $0 for May overnight. The market is still resting at that price. The line is held yesterday, the early weakness showing not only that the jangs were prepared to sell freely, but that so many shorts had been filled that the market is in a position to move.

The market today has seen one important news, one can see nothing to make higher prices. In London, especially as the estimate of the grain crop is said to stand off or a very small decrease as against a decrease of a million for the week a year ago.

Commodities, lower with some disposition on the part of local scalpers to shakeout country holders who have bought on the advance.

The Week's Movement.

THE HERALD'S POSITION.

The ground taken by The Herald in the weeks immediately preceding the holding of the republican city convention has been evident, we believe, to all readers. But to avoid the possibility of any misunderstanding, we now state it succinctly. Its news columns have been open to any proper suggestion or recommendation of any candidate for the consideration of the people, but it has refrained from any editorial expression of preference. This course it followed for the sake of entire fairness and party harmony, and for the reason also that it considered that citizens of longer residence and wider personal acquaintance were better qualified than The Herald editor to judge of the availability of the candidates presented.

It was the earnest hope of The Herald that the party convention when assembled would view the situation carefully and dispassionately and unite finally upon the candidate preferred for the most substantial reasons and singled out by an unclouded expression of the views of the primaries. Unfortunately, this was not the case. In the opinion of the declared supporters of Mr. Pearson, at least, Mr. Hall was not in the field by his own statement and the presentation of his name to the convention was an undoubtedly due to the support of the public school board, which he had given to the plan, but Miss French assures me that this was at present impossible and is stating that this range will also show the greatest range gain in 1890.

The Herald was informed yesterday by undoubted authority that the city was actually at work cleaning snow off the sidewalks in the city it should go, but the practical results of the work today are far to seek. Keep up the good work and let it speak for itself to the satisfaction of every wary citizen.

SEEN AND HEARD.
I had supposed that the idea of a cooking school in connection with the public schools was a project decidedly new and that Duluth was entitled to a great deal of credit for bringing it in. I am sorry to say that the school board is entitled to great credit for doing this, as far as I know. I have heard nothing of any campaign, and Mr. Hall has never at those meetings said a word about being a candidate for mayor. Neither has he directly or indirectly supported or opposed any or any other member of the committee so far as I can learn. There has been no manipulation of the committee in the selection of anyone, and anyone who is chosen is entitled to the name of a democrat.

Postmaster John Flynn: I am not a candidate for the mayoralty, and will not be.

Judge Emerson, of The Spalding: The Duluth Steamboat and Land Improvement company will undoubtedly have great success in its undertaking. It is something Duluth has long needed and will result in establishing Duluth as the local point for excursions from all over the country.

TEMPLE OPERA NOTES.
"Big Zing" opens two night engagements here this evening, at 8 P.M. The St. Paul Dispatch says: "There are only a few vacant seats in the entire lower floor of the Newmarket when the curtain was rung up for the first act of 'Big Zing' and the gallery was well filled with very little semblance of a plot an opportunity is given to present a combination of the best features that have been seen at St. Paul since the 'City Directory' company was at the New market. Miss Anna Boyd, as the incorrigible child, has a pleasing voice, is exceptionally funny, and an exceedingly nice actress and artiste."

Alfred C. Wheeler as Mr. Hopper is an exceptionally worthy comedian, and he would put a slight curb on the more boisterous features of the piece. The end of the comedy's run is quiet, he would elicit nothing but praise throughout the entire piece. George Green: His story of Peter at the gate was one of the most amusing features of the evening."

Clara Morris will make a three months' tour next season through the Northwest. It is rumored that J. B. Booth, eldest son of the late Junius Brutus Booth, will shortly wed a member of the Boston Museum company. He is also a member of the Museum company.

IN WINTER.
(Louise Chauder Moulton.)
O, to go back to the days of June,
To be young and alive again!
Hark! the birds are singing in the trees;
Birds were singing with might and main;
Then they sang at the sun's heat's wane;
Sweet time was coming for rain and rapture.
Now we chant but a desolate rime;
But never December turns to June;
What length of living is length of pain?
When we're here, but a few years old Enough and endowed with a fair amount of good sense are trying to make themselves believe how much our senators are in love, in which the same—well, who cares, we are not killed?

Northfield News: It doesn't make the slightest difference to The News how much the members of the Board of Education are to be manifested there. From this fact it is pretty certain that Brain is not dead—far from it. When people are more interested in whether his name should be presented or not. It was his friends then from their standpoint and his who took the responsibility of working in his interest and securing delegates and the presentation of his name to the convention.

It is obvious that this misunderstanding and conflict of views are much to be regretted by all true friends of the republican party, who hold the honorable interests of the party above all personal considerations. The Herald has consistently deplored the drawing of party lines in city elections while fully recognizing that it was a practical condition and not a theory that faced the city at this time. Both parties had determined to call party conventions and it remained only to hold them and conduct them in manner that would give no just ground of dissatisfaction to any loyal citizen. Both as a matter of political expediency and public policy, The Herald is emphatically in favor of avowed candidates. It is too often too hard to draw the line fairly between proper modesty and mock-modesty in withholding the use of a candidate's name to make the practice acceptable to straightforward men, and the liveliest and most successful political blusters who. The Herald knows have uniformly preferred to submit their cause to the judgment of the people by frank assertion. In the present case the decision was different, and as we think a grave mistake. For in leaving the master wholly to the discretion of friends, the successful candidate has exposed himself to very sharp and warm fault finding and the party is constrained to face patent dissatisfaction and open and secret secessions.

What course shall be adopted under the circumstances is a question which every loyal republican must finally decide for himself upon a thorough and temperate survey of the situation. It is again a condition and not a theory that confronts us, and it is the judicial temper in which alone it should be reviewed. It is unquestionably right to consider all material reasons that can be urged for the support of the republican convention candidate, as well as those that are brought, or may be brought, against him. The testimony of Mr. H. S. Lord, a member of the republican city committee is given in The Herald today to the effect that no manipulation of the committee's action in his favor, and no influence of any kind was brought to bear upon the committee by its chairman to promote his selection as the party convention candidate. This evidence of Mr. Lord will have the weight to which he is entitled as a competent witness and an accredited supporter of Mr. Pearson before the convention.

Mr. Hall is a trained business man of known standing as cashier of the State bank of this city, and exceedingly well-equipped in point of ability for the discharge of the duties of the mayor's office. He has been recognized and honored by the party here by selection as chairman of the city republican committee, and is now the regularly elected candidate of the party in convention assembled. Opposition to him is opposition to the declared choice of the republican city convention or other words is bolted the party nomination. The Herald as it has repeatedly announced, is not tied to the tail of any party, but as an honest republican newspaper, it holds firmly that only very grave reasons can justify the demoralization of the party by disunion and secession. The final appeal of every true republican in a case of this kind must be to his sober judgment,

The revision of the Westminster Confession of Faith, the initial steps in which undertaking has been taken by the New York Presbyteries, is a matter which is attracting wide attention. There is, of course, a great diversity of opinion on the question. The majority, however, appear to be in favor of a revision. Following is the gist of a sermon on this subject:

The First Presbyterian church was crowded yesterday morning to hear the views of Rev. Dr. Ringland on a subject which is attracting universal attention, namely, "The Revision of the Confession of Faith." The text was 2 Timothy 1, 13, 14:

Hold fast the form of sound words, which is Christ Jesus. That good thing is committed unto thee; keep it in Holy Ghost.

The subject was introduced by a few general thoughts having reference to the question of which the following is a condensation:

It should ever turn out that the framers of creeds and confessions have gone on a fool's errand—that both the will of God and the judgment of man pronounced against them—most confess that a prodigious amount of labor has been wasted.

"We are now more willing about, notwithstanding the fact that some persons pronounce all creeds and confessions useless, and worse than useless, appendages to church order."

But we believe in a creed. A creed is what we believe. Why not spread sails and take the "winds of doctrine" as they come, and after the fashion of Athens, spend our time at nothing else but to hear the winds of doctrine?

The first reason for not doing that is that the Book of Revelation is closed, and the new things nowadays do not come by revelation.

The second reason is that given by the text, viz., that the gospel is not something that has to be hunted down after the fashion of Athens.

We recently had a revision in these days. We recently had a revision of the Bible, and many good people got a little dismayed, and a good many did not very good service in a good cause, because they thought that it was the utter destruction of Christianity, but Christianity somehow lived through it, because all that was done was to make a new translation. And now comes our most noble confession of faith, the banner under which 30,000,000 of Christian people march, and which has been the expression of our faith and our progress over two centuries, up to date, for a re-examination, with a possibility of revision. At our general assembly in 1883, fifteen of the 211 presbyteries over the country voted asking for a revision of the "Confession of Faith." The assembly answered as follows:

Whereas, overtures have come from different presbyteries, and elsewhere, in the name of a majority of our members in and people, some forms of statements in our "Confession of Faith" are liable to misunderstanding, and expose our system of doctrine to unmerited criticism, and...

Whereas, before any definite steps should be taken for the revision of our standards, it is desirable to know whether there is a general desire for such revision. Therefore,

Solved: That this general assembly overture to the Presbyteries the following questions:

1. Do you desire a revision of the confession of faith?

2. If so, in what respects, and to what extent?

At the next general assembly which meets in October, the third Thursday in May, 1890, all of the 211 Presbyteries in our body will answer these two questions. I. Do you desire revision? II. In what respects, and to what extent?

The drift of discussion thus far discloses these facts: "That no change in the doctrinal system contemplated in any way alter (3) That on our part should give a more unequivocal expression to the universal truth taught in Jno. 3, 16. That is to say, that God so loved the world, etc. (3) Some think that we have had enough of the misdeeds about clerical and non-clerical infants. (4) Another fact that is not overlooked is that when the confession was written the Roman Catholic church was the chief enemy, and is now in many quarters that the heathen need the major part of our attention. And then instead of holding the old views, we ought to look at things from a new point of view, and the great commission, and that the confessors ought to speak in trumpet tones to the church of its duty to go into all the world and preach the gospel every creature. The notion of the assembly not only as yet uncertain, but the most it can do in May, 1890 will be to appoint a committee to consider and hear their report in October, and to report again in January, 1891, and to see if the majority of the presbyteries answer the questions in the affirmative, which the assembly will then down to them for their consideration.

But this action of the fifteen Presbyteries is not of the nature of revolution. It simply means this: The confession of faith is to be revised, and to be an infallible standard. It is to be asked whether it is sure about every single utterance it has made. It is to be asked whether it is sure that it has the precise shade of color that the Presbyteries of the blessed Master would. It is a question of shades and not a question of fabrics. The great system of doctrine will stand, notwithstanding the sensations, headlong, which comes from the morning papers. The Presbyterian church is not sick of its confession of faith.

Under every statement of doctrine they placed the particular scripture upon which it was based, and for the statements that they made. If there is a single statement in that confession, not triumphantly upheld by the word of God, it does not stand. If they have in any sense lost the central government of Revelation and established a false center, their work ought to be overhauled and reconstructed.

Some people think that a confession of faith ought to be Christo-centric; that is, not to express a central thought of the glory of God, but that it ought to have Christ as the sun and center of its constellation of doctrines. But, for my own part, I am satisfied with the confession as it is. I do not object to the stress that the confession lays upon the love of the sovereign God. He is all of it. I do not think it would be very hard to prove that the expression of His love to a fallen race by the gift of His son is good sovereign. It was out of His good pleasure. It was out of His infinite compassion.

It was a favor shown to a disobedient race that was under the curse of the broken law. To lift the curse of a capital punishment, which would have been done if penalty had been rendered, was just such a sovereign act as one chief executive exercise of the prerogative of capital offenders who have been sent away by our country. I cannot, therefore, but think that our fathers were wise in making the sovereignty of God a controlling thought. It is the love that beat in that sovereign heart they would have given a true Biblical balance and symmetry to the confession of the Holy Spirit.

A SPLENDID STATEMENT.

The Associated Banks' Weekly Statement Shows Easy Money.

The Visible Decrease; Prices Elsewhere; Market Notes.

There was a more active wheat market today. At the opening it was very weak and heavy, not only here but at all markets. There were no exports, cables were easy and dull, and the visible decrease was small in comparison with the receipts at all primary points. Receipts at Chicago were numerous and that market was very bearish, but with the report that Hutchinson was buying and that the market was in a feverish condition, it was time for an upturn. As the day advanced this feeling became more prevalent and gradually the demand increased. The day's decline at Chicago was very great, while the close here was regained.

Nothing was done in cash. No. 1 hard cash closed at 71 1/4. No. 2 northern, 75 1/2; No. 2 northern, 75 1/2; January, 71 1/2; No. 1 northern, 75 1/2; all nominal. May opened at 82 1/4, 1/2 below Saturday's close, dropped to 82, with good sales at that, advanced and closed firm at 82 1/2. May No. 1 northern closed at 79 1/2.

Impartial Mkt's Output.

The output of the Duluth Imperial mill last week was 9200 bbls, an average of 1545 bbls a day. Shipments from the week were 6300 bbls. The flour trade is reported to be very dull and slow, and it is not active here.

The visible supply of wheat in this country shows a decrease for the week of 360,000 bu against a decrease of 1,003,561 bu for the week last year, and of 660,104 bu for the week before. Com shorts were 1,000 bu. Oats (nominal) 43,377 bu for the week last year. Oats show a decrease of 13,000 bu, but against 27,615 bu for the week last year. The total visible supply of wheat is now 32,152,000 bu against 35,355,462 bu for the date last year, and of 41,791,125 bu at the date in 1888.

The Day's Movement.

Cards on track: Wheat 13 corn 1, oats 629 bu, oats 31,242 bu, Shipments: Wheat 7101 bu, Minneapolis reported 204 cars on track, against 88 Saturday and 100 Monday. Receipts: Wheat 113,120 bu, against 35,355,462 bu for the date last year, and of 41,791,125 bu at the date in 1888.

Northwestern Stocks.

THAT MINE DEAL.

The big English syndicate to go through.

As stated last week in The Herald there is every probability that the big deal between Vermilion mine owners and the English syndicate will be concluded. A large and several valuable properties have been given, and it is reported this price proves to be satisfactory the money will be paid and English will put in.

If the English closed an immediate development of the property will take place and railroad facilities given to the mines which will be opened. It is also stated by some that his investment of English in these iron properties means the development of a new steel and iron plant that the English syndicate is to erect in this city. Should this rumor be true, it will become a matter of even greater interest to this city.

AFFECTS MANY.

Property Title - Helena, seriously affected by fire.

Helema, Mont., Jan. 27. - A business sensation was created in Helena yesterday by the finding of flaws in the title to valuable real estate in this city. Great Falls and Anaconda. The property question is valued at several millions, and includes two valuable additions to Helena, the townsite of Great Falls and the townsite of Anaconda. The man who proposes to profit by the fire is R. G. Davies, Helena attorney.

The land was located to script, the powers of attorney accompanying which have been declared valid by the appropriate courts of Arkansas, Kansas and California. The parties affected are among the most prominent in Helena, and include Governor S. T. Hart, state senator, capitalists. A great deal of the property affected is owned in St. Paul, Chicago, New York, Boston and St. Louis.

LOOKING UP LABOR.

Report to the Chamber of Commerce on the Paint Question.

Hope That Local Contractors Will Employ Duluth Men.

Other Questions Discussed: the Sault and Hay Lake.

Messrs. F. K. Long, A. Hirsch and C. O. Baldwin were admitted to membership at the Chamber of Commerce meeting this morning, and the executive committee reported a favorable outlook for large increases this year in the membership of the organization. The reception committee to which the names of the president and secretary were added, was instructed to prepare a program for celebrating in an appropriate manner the opening of the new Chamber of Commerce and laying the cornerstone of the building. A banquet to the members will be given.

The Philadelphia board of trade sent the Chamber a memorial to the Sault Improvement Commission that the commerce of the state of New York called attention to the resolution recently adopted by it regarding the Chi-

S. I. Mason of Pipestone asked the Chamber for more literature regarding Duluth, and also requested the Chamber to speak to a passenger service between Pipestone and Manitoba, south of Duluth.

Senators Davis sent some petitions to the Chamber among the business men of this town, praying congress to pass the Hay lake and Sault improvement bill.

Congressman Comstock informed the Chamber that he had been so diligent in business management, removed him to Dunkirk. Against this the congregation protested in vain, and he at last resort the trustees closed the church.

A mass meeting of the congregation was then held and the four delegates appointed to go to Rome to demand justice.

All the four delegates were placed by Bishop Ryan at the disposal of Archbishop Corrigan, just prior to the latter's departure for Rome last week.

The statements of both sides of the case were laid before the delegation.

The delegation will remain in Rome until the 1st of March.

Mr. Comstock also said he would not be present, owing to the opposition of the church.

As a result of his untiring energy a handsome church edifice, together with a school and parochial residence, were erected.

The church and residence were built by the parishioners, and the school by the congregation.

The school was opened in October.

The school is now in full operation.

The Washington office of "The Herald" is at the corner of Superior and W. 2nd streets. The paper is kept on file and when the Herald correspondent will welcome visitors from the Northwest.

THE PRACTICAL COURSE.
John K. Shaw was nominated by acclamation at the democratic convention yesterday, and will run for the straight democratic candidate for mayor. He is a business man of unclouded reputation, a representative democrat and a popular citizen, and will unquestionably make a strong run. The Herald will never forget that it is a republican newspaper, but no member of any party in this city or country shall ever be able to accuse it justly of misrepresenting facts intentionally or twisting the truth for political advantage. That is the line which The Herald proposes to pursue both on the ground of principle and political and business advantage, for it truly believes that no end of respect and success can be won by any other course. If that is being "criticized" in its course, it is entirely willing to be so.

It is vain to pretend that the nominations for aldermen, by either party are wholly ideal, or even wholly satisfactory. In the world of practical affairs, such a concourse of nominations is rarely if ever seen. The best men for the places persistently refuse to run, or owing to the practical conditions failing them would fail of election if they did run.

The inexorable apathy or neglect on the part of citizens who walk at their plain duty at the primaries and complain wholly of misrepresentation later result inevitably in the frequent nomination of unfit men or men less fit than might have been chosen. It is more over fair to recognize that representative bodies of this kind are likely to represent the level and composition of their constituents, and it is preposterous to expect therefore that all common councilmen will be sages and statesmen.

The practical course to pursue in the coming election is obviously to make the best of the material furnished, and to give the city a good council as can be elected. It is entirely proper for republicans to bear in mind that a working majority which can be relied upon to stand together in the council is no less essential to good, consistent and efficient legislation than the individual character of the members, and political divisions however causeless in dealing with city affairs. It behoves all loyal republican citizens, therefore, to see to it that an efficient working majority be secured, and in reviewing the lists presented The Herald has no hesitation in declaring that a republican majority can be secured which will represent the city fully as well as any possible democratic majority. The citizens in the respective wards know the men who live among them and have been put up for their support far better, as a rule, than The Herald editor is able to judge of them, and can compare the respective fitness of the rival candidates for themselves. The Herald does not urge and will not urge the election of a really inferior republican over a better democrat in any way, but it does call for careful investigation and comparison and the just remembrance of the rational demand for an effective and reliable working majority in legislation.

One thing hopes will be sunk deeper than plummet sound in the council that is to be. This is the mean balance of good and bad, and the idea that one section of the city will suffer by the legitimate advancement of another. What benefits a part cannot fail to benefit the whole, and The Herald would see Duluth united as one man for the interest and growth of every part of Duluth and the city as a whole.

The evening paper is the newspaper of the present, and its future success can hardly be predicted. The prejudice which at one time existed in favor of a morning newspaper has vanished and today many of the most successful journals of the country are evening papers. The number is growing rapidly, much more so than that of successful morning journals, and wherever the publishers of afternoon papers have thrown off the lazy idea that their sheets need not be a mere reprint of the morning blanket sheets, booted in some particulars, extended to tiresome verbiage in others the afternoon paper is easily the leader. People won't wait till tomorrow for what they can get as well today. They want the news when it is news and not after their neighbors have read it and slept over it. These reflections are induced by a copy of The Washington Evening Star, one of the most successful newspapers in the country and one that has grown with almost phenomenal strides in the past three years. To come nearer home we have an illustration of the success of the afternoon newspaper in The Minneapolis Journal, whose circulation exceeds by nearly 10,000 copies daily. That of any morning daily in the Twin cities. Its success, as well as that of The Star was attained by common sense, all round work and hard work. The Herald is minded of its own business and fast going ahead of that to as is circulation and advertising column space. It will move from its present quarters on the 1st of the next month to the Hayes block on Superior street, and its business office will be on the ground floor, formerly occupied by the State bank. All citizens and visitors will be cordially welcomed.

The verdict for Thomas Timlin in his suit against the city to recover damages from the Bunnell block basement last summer was a complete justification of the position of The Herald that the city was primarily responsible for damages arising from the diversion of a natural waterway in the city and the botch work connection with a clearly inadequate and defective court, no matter whether any other party was secondary responsible or not. Full damages were allowed without waiting the event of suits to sufferers, whose claims were certainly not more strongly founded on law than the occupants of the Bunnell block, who were constrained to sue in order to recover. The Herald made no complaint of this discrimination, but the event of the Timlin suit has shown how baseless it was. The Herald takes pleasure in giving just credit for the able conduct of this suit by the attorneys for the plaintiff, Edson and Hanks.

SEEN AND HEARD.

"There are more," said Mr. Johnson, "when I come to think of it, who used to impress a pipe and canes. I say pipes and canes, for generally one firm manufactures both. They go well together, somehow."

Germany and France sent us one time a large portion of the timber used in building our houses. The wood was cut in the forest. Within late years, however, we have not only held our own, but drives the foreign product from the market."

Mr. Johnson, A. C. & Co., lumber dealers, said: "The timber business is the largest one in the state, manufacturing establishments in the state of Minnesota have become in this manufacturer, that this firm sent a pipe to the Paris exhibition, which took the first prize. The pipe was made of iron, with a scene representing Macbeth and the witches carved on the bowl in solid figure. Its value is $100. Most of this pipe wood is shipped here from the best woods in the state, the mosaic like measure. The wood comes in rough blocks, giving the outlines of the pipe in straight lines. Our lumber is also imported, and is very costly stuff."

Fond du Lac pine floss results in the arrest of the contractors who have been cutting timber.

AMONG STATE EDITORS.

Mankato Free Press: Duluth is bound to keep itself before the public. Realizing that the time of an election is an especially bad time to Zephaniah, he has arranged that his municipal election should occur annually at or about Feb. 1. This forethought furnishes all the fun as well as noise necessary and the various newspapers of the town have begun their yearly scrapping over the mayoralty.

Minneapolis News: That is the most logical and striking resolution Land Commissioner Bookholder administered to the St. Paul chamber of commerce the other day. Sioux City, he said, with its corn palace offers the most logical and striking resolution. Out only artist can make a decent case head. One beautiful case we make can head one. Beautiful case we make can head one. The wood in the rough, but covered with a coat of paint. But the snake wood is the popular one this year. It's rough wood, unbarked, having under the handle a silver snake coiled perhaps a half dozen times around the wood. This has entirely superseded gold in making heads.

Katherine Turner, a young woman, representative of all the cases used in the United States. They will vary in price from ten cents up to $100, $150 and even higher. Some of the cases made this year are beautiful, and some are ugly. Come with me, and see what the fairest wood is.

DULUTH TO WINNIPEG.

Added Particulars of the Railroad Company's Last Meetings.

Opinion of a High Public Officer on What It Makes Duluth.

The St. Cloud Head Elects Officers; Some Rail Notes.

The news as published in The Herald last night of the Duluth & Winnipeg road, from the vice-president of the construction company that is building the line, who just returned from several important meetings held at New York, proved of not a little general local interest. There is a very universal feeling among Duluth people that the Duluth & Winnipeg road is destined to be the most important of all roads entering this city from the West. Southwest to North and any road having reaching it will always be of great interest.

At the meetings held last week, and which Mr. Munger attended, it was decided to increase the amount paid up capital stock from $1,000,000 to $1,000,000, the latter representing the cost of the ninety miles of line to the Mississippi already completed, and the equipment necessary to run the line profitably. It was also decided that equipment would be purchased at once. This equipment will consist at first of two large and powerful locomotives, two passenger cars, two combination cars, twenty-five freight cars, and five box cars. Of course, this equipment will be soon added to, but it was authorized to the arrest of property owners for not clearing sidewalks of snow and ice was shown.

Of $137,078 due Lundgren & Johnson it was decided to account for labor and materials used and deduct the balance handed over to them, and the balance was drawn in favor of Alexander Thomas to pay the bills for certain work done by him. The bill was $9,50; John G. Hawley, $1,45; Clark Wels Hardware company put in bids on hardware, J. D. O'Donnell and John C. Anderson on cordwood. M. J. Davis was authorized to purchase clothing for prisoners that they might be able to show snow.

At the beginning of 1889 there was a total of $71,451 remaining in the treasury belonging to eight different funds as follows:

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

The Course of Wheat and Stock Prices for the Day on 'Change.

Daily Receipts; Chicago Gossip; Close; Market Notes.

The market was firm, with a good deal of strength underneath, but trading was small. There was a fair inquiry much of the time. Nearly all the prints of the day were in favor of higher prices. All American markets were stronger, cables were steady, and reported a better demand. The amount of wheat on passage however, showed an increase of 184,000 bu.

Nothing was done in cash. No. 1 hard closed at 74½; No. 1 northern, 73½; No. 2 northern, 73; January No. 1 hard closed at 73; No. 1 northern, 73½; both same, May No. 1 hard at 73½; at $2½, the same as last night's close, held steady until about noon, then shot up to $2¾, where it remained for the rest of the day, which was bid at the close. May No. 1 northern closed at 74½, nominal. February corn closed at 29 and May at 31½.

The Daily Movement.

Cars on track: Wheat, 1,014. Receipts: Wheat, 4164 bu.; oats, 1,216 bu.; linseed oil, 400 bu.; corn, 91; oats, 25; total, 53; against 34 of wheat a year ago. Minneapolists reported 150 cars against 204 yesterday and 143 today. Receipts: these, 10,080 bu.; flour, 17,360 bu.

Cattle: Wheat.

The following dispatches are over the private wires of W. W. Bill, successor to Pressy, Wheeler & Lewis:

Whent: The bullish feeling was intensified today by the correction of the so-called Special Western Report on the course of winter wheat, caused by the news from California. It is now stated that the condition of winter wheat should have been given at 95.3 instead of 93.2, the latter percentage referring to acreage.

The market is now held in suspense.

An effort will be made to get the railroad to give an excursion to Duluth to the delegates to the National Builders Association, now in convention at St. Paul.

AN INTERESTING ACTION.

One That Will do Much Toward Settling the Prentice Claim.

White & Reynolds, as attorneys for Owen Fergusson, have commenced action against the Western Land Association, the First and Second Banks, C. P. Cash, T. C. Ash, Agnes E. Hitchcock, W. W. Spalding, Ella Menendian, Frederick D. Prentiss, and others, in which the plaintiff claims he is owner of an undivided one-quarter of all the tract in Duluth known as the tract "reserved for the proprietors" lying in the Second and Third Lake Shore districts.

The tract is valued at $150,000 and is stated to be perfectly vacant.

The plaintiff demands a partition of the property and that the title of Elmer Menendian and F. D. Prentiss, or, if they have any, be declared void and no effect and that said defendants be required to disclose their interest in the land.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON

Arguing the Sault Bill With the House Committee Today.

To Improve the Red River; Wants $75,000 for Reds.

Other Fresh News from the National Capital for a Day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Col. C. H. Graves of Duluth and ex-Congressman Seymour of Sault Ste. Marie, testified before the house river and harbor committee today regarding the needed improvements on the Sault canal. Col. Graves has an idea that if a special appropriation for the improvements is not made, the agitation will result in something being added to the river and harbor bill for the benefit of the Sault.

The delegation was increased by Geo. Ely of Cleveland and expatiated upon the importance of the improvements and their bearing upon the commerce of the great lakes. They remonstrated against the continuation of the old policy of making insufficient appropriations for the prosecution of these great improvements, and requested the committee to grant the full amount of the engineer's estimates, as follows: Hay lake channel, $1,031,115; St. Marys river at falls, $3,78,84.

The indications are that the committee will report to the house a river and harbor bill containing a total appropriation of about $25,000,000 to remedy in part any failing of the bill in the last congress. Such an appropriation would be very little larger than that made by the last act, though.

Sent to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The President took time to see the following nomination: Bishop K. Bruce of the District of Columbia to be recorder in the District of Columbia.

In the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Mr. Payne, III, from the house committee on public lands reported the senate bill on a bill to extend the mineral rights in Colorado. The bill was passed yesterday.

Under Protection.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 29.—The catastrophe which occurred on Monday on the Monon route, near Indianapolis, has had the effect of attracting renewed attention among members of congress to the necessity for the passage of a national law prohibiting the use of coal cars on railroads in the United States. Three bills covering this question were partially prepared several weeks since, but, one thing or another has conspired against their completion and introduction into the past.

The latest railroad accident which did not a single life would have been lost had the train been equipped with the best of bracing, and it will have the effect of hastening the demand upon congress for legislation which will make such holocausts a thing of the past.

Dams for the Red River.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Congressman Clegg of the Red River valley, introduced a bill to the house to appropriate $100,000 for the dredging of the Red River of the North. It is with a view to putting the locks and to hold back the surplus water in the spring, thus preventing disastrous floods and making the river navigable in the summer. The bill provides an appropriation of $10,000.

Indians Starving.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—In response to senate resolutions of the 20th inst., the secretary of the interior has sent to the senate a report on the condition of Indians in relation to the condition of Indians at the La Pointe agency, in Wisconsin. The Indian commissioner in Washington states that many of these Indians are destitute and suffering from want. The secretary of the interior has directed that the money appropriated for this purpose be used to meet the wants of these Indians.

Referring to a statement made by him at the meeting of the Interstate Commerce Railway association held in New York, Dr. Charles Francis Adams, president of the Chicago & Northwestern, said:

"I am sorry to say that the condition of the Indians is deplorable."

Duluth Roads Refuse to Join the Western Freight Men's Talk.

Chicago Roads Will Again Cut and Slash Rates in Summer.

The Gentleman's Agreement All Knocked Out; Notes.

Chairman Faithorn of the Western Freight association and the representatives of the Northwestern roads, who have been holding a conference in New York with the managers of the trunk lines, the Canadian Pacific and the lake transportation companies relative to through rates from the seaboard to Northwestern ports have returned to Chicago. The object of the conference, as heretofore stated in The Herald, was to agree upon a basis of through rates to govern both the rail and water routes during the season of navigation, and so avoid the friction and demoralization that prevailed last season until the trunk lines gobbed the whole of the traffic.

It was freely predicted that the purpose of the conference would not be accomplished and that the Duluth roads would never submit to the traffic of going to Chicago. They consider the right settled last year.

In the meantime, without taking any definite action on the matter under consideration, the reason of this was that the Manitobas road, the Northern Steamship company and the Eastern railway, controlled by James J. Hill, sent no representatives to the conference and maintained a strict silence as to their views on the questions. The St. Paul & Duluth also kept quiet on the meeting.

These companies are the most important factors in the Northwestern freight business during the summer months their absence could not be ignored.

The failure of the Duluth roads to respond to the one proposed as especially significant. It is generally construed to mean that they have no intention of receding from the position taken by them in the previous conference, and will not be compelled to do so unless the St. Paul & Duluth left out. All the other interested companies were represented and the final upshot of the conference was an agreement by those present to submit the question of rates to arbitration.

Of course this action is contingent on the assent of the absentees, and Chairman Blaine, who presided with them and authorized to communicate with them for the purpose of obtaining their views. If they accept the proposition another meeting will be called for the purpose of selecting an arbitrator.

A gentleman speaking of this matter says: "If they refuse the whole scheme will fall to the ground and the Chicago roads will know what to expect when the navigation is opened this spring. The majority of them are already satisfied that no agreement will be reached. The ominous absence of the Duluth lines' representatives from New York naturally creates a fear that any further attempt to secure harmony without surrendering everything to the Chicago roads will fail.

The Chicago roads will be compelled to meet the rates of the St. Paul & Duluth, and will then be compelled to enter into an agreement for the maintenance of rates on a reasonable basis, but, of course, they would do well to withdraw from the conference. The St. Paul & Duluth also kept quiet on the meeting.

These companies are the most important factors in the Northwestern freight business during the summer months their absence could not be ignored.

The Young Women's Christian Temperance Union of Duluth will give a silver medal contest sometime in the near future. This contest is to be conducted in a few weeks to be awarded to the best of ten speakers on some temperance or prohibition subject. All contestants must be under 21 years of age. Prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Contestants will drill the contestants.

Those wishing to enter the contest will please make application as once to Miss Annie McClellan, 714 West Second street, chairman of committee on contests. All applications must be made before Feb. 5.

Arrived Again a Candidate.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been an earnest listener to the Evangelist Bink for more than a week now, and he has had the opportunity to make me see that the pernicious habit of drinking is one of the gravest crimes that a man can commit—a crime so grave that it can never be wiped out by the efforts of a man to improve his men, women and innocent children. The burning truths he has so burned themselves into my heart that I am compelled to speak of them to anyone who may be interested in the welfare of our race.

Charles H. Manning, who claims the pool players' championship of the United States in a game of pool at the Cafe Leon, 206½ West Superior street, last night, accomplished the remarkable feat of pocketing all the balls in five frames consecutively. His greatest record before was forty balls.

Another Contention for Them.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 29.—The interstate Commerce Railway association, better known as the Gentlemen's association, has at last reached the end of its rope.

It received a telegram from the secretary of state having been given by the Union Pacific and Chicago & Northwestern Railway companies of their withdrawal.

The announcement of the action of these companies caused intense excitement in the city, and all day long the traffic will all go via the Lakes and Duluth, and Chicago roads will not be allowed to come to the decision that the St. Paul & Duluth, Eastern and Manitoba are in the fight to win, and will keep on demolishing rates every season until the Chicago roads are beaten up an attempt to secure the traffic for them.

DIVIDES THE DAMAGES.

The Northern Steamship Company to pay $100,000 for the sheafed.

A decision has been reached in the steamship case of the Sheffield and North Star, Judge Brown found both vessels at fault, and apportioned the damages between the owners. The amount sued for in the case of the C. J. Sheffield was $176,794. Add to this the cost of repairing the North Star after the collision, a sum over $10,000, and we have an aggregate sum of $186,000. Thus a division of damages will settle the sum of $90,000 upon Jim Hill's Northern line and $96,000 upon the C. J. Sheffield. As far as the legal rights of the parties, however, is concerned, the damage of result can be attained. The outcome of this trial has been looked for with considerable interest, and the lesson read to many by Judge Brown, will not be apt to be disregarded.

In summing up Judge Brown gives this account of the case: The Sheffield was about 100 fathoms off white Fish Point blowing her fog signal. At 4:42 she checked half speed. While upon this course she heard the whistle of the Star on her starboard bow. She was well within the range of the fog signal, but there was no negligence so far. The whistle of the Star continued to blow, whether a fog signal or a passing signal is uncertain. It was called for three blasts, and the North Star answered with one. She ported, however, at the risk that it was a passing signal. The Star passed what was considered to be a port signal, and deliberately threw it across the course of the Star. There is no fault to find with the Star until the signals of the two ships are compared. It is true running under check, but I find no reason for doubt that the North Star people claim that the signals of the Star were not heard.

At the time of the accident, the Star was running on the outer route, and the North Star was on the inner route. The Star had stopped to take on coal, and the North Star was with one. She ported, however, at the risk that it was a passing signal. The Star checked down, sometimes afterwards stopped, and when a collision seemed imminent, backed away. This was sufficient to make the Star responsible. The bow of the Star went five feet into the Sheffield, and from expert testimony it was determined that the speed of the Star was between five and seven miles per hour.

THE WATER POWER.

Developed Strengths of the St. Louis River Water Power Company.

Some time ago The Herald made the assumption that the electric development could be expected soon in connection with the improvement of the St. Louis river water power. And in view of existing facts this statement can be reitered.

It is probable that a few days, or weeks, will see matters settled that will be of great moment in connection with this development.

Values of acreage along the St. Louis river, since the purchase of the West Duluth property by the Vanderbilts, are still to be determined.

Values of land and buildings.

WORLD OF COMMERCE

The Course of Wheat and Stock Prices for the Day on Change.

Daily Receipts; Chicago Gosip; Close; Market Notes.

There was a very dull market here today, with prices unchanged from last night until just at the close, when there was a decline of  $\frac{1}{4}$ . The feeling was easier all day, both here and at other markets. There were no local features of moment. Cables were easy and dull and exports from the seaboard small. The receipts at all Western points were 147,000 bu.

Cash and January wheat closed as follows: No. 1 hard, 77 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; W. B. Northern, 75 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; No. 2 medium, 73 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; No. 3 medium, 71 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; No. 4 medium, 68 $\frac{1}{2}$ , held steady until the close, when it sold at 67 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; May No. 1 northern closed at 70 $\frac{1}{2}$ ; February corn closed at 80 $\frac{1}{2}$  and at 81 $\frac{1}{2}$ .

New Directors of the Board.

The first meeting of the new board of directors of the Board of Trade was held yesterday afternoon. Col. Geo. E. Welles was elected secretary for the ensuing year, and F. W. Paine, treasurer. ## Chicago Wheat.

The following statistics are over the private wire from the office of Bill, Price, Wheat & Laven.

Wheat has been dull and heavy. The opening was firm but showed indication that the local scalping crowd, long and well liked by the market, had advanced. They have worked manfully to-day to accomplish this, but failed. Bull news was injected into the crowd when possible. The market is very quiet. Indiana wheat was less freely offered than that of pretensions of sellers were advanced and yet it seemed impossible to pull May to 80c. The trouble is the lack of demand. The market closed weak and featureless.

Corn, dull and featureless, the near futures being slightly lower on both receipts.

Precious, dull. It was evident there were large orders to sell. May pork at $10.15, but the quantity sold at that price was not large.

Raise Funds.

The Street Railway company is only waiting for the city council to give it the enabling legislation to begin work on the cable road. Thomas Lowry of Minneapolis, the president of the company, left for New York this morning to float bonds for money to complete the work. The council will probably take action on the right-of-way next Monday.

District Court.

At the district court today before Judge Ensign, John Piering obtained a verdict of $1000 damages against the Northwestern Fire company. The jury was out all night. Before the trial, Stearns the case of John Leis vs. The Duluth Gas & Water company was dismissed on motion of the defendant after the plaintiff had agreed to drop the case that of John Watson against the same company was settled before trial. The case of August Reinke vs. L. H. Zastrom is now on trial. It is an action for damages in a piano deal.

CITY BRIEFS.

The post office will be omitted because of the temperance rally at the Opera house.

Members of the Masonic Temple association met Monday night, but on account of their meeting no quorum, failed to transact any business.

The driver of an ice wagon in attempting to turn on Second Avenue, hit the middle of the road, smashed the wagon tongue and demolished his own tongue generally.

An amount of bricklaying has been done on the Henderson building opposite the Spalding, the last two or three days.

Work on the interior of the Clague & Pease building is progressing rapidly, and it will be ready for occupancy in about a month.

The following variations in temperatures are recorded in the Bureau's daily report:

Mr. Neil McLachlan received a telegram from his brother, Mr. McLachlan, who has been in the city several days, returning home this evening. Mr. McLachlan has been visiting considerable time at his brother's residence.

Mr. F. M. Tyler and sister of Syracuse, N. Y., are guests at the Spalding.

Messrs. Beij, Ketchum and W. E. Graham, young Philadelphia capitalists, are in the city to invest in Duluth real estate.

Mr. H. M. Ogilvie, who has been visiting relatives in this city for the past week, left this morning for his home in Huron City.

Mr. Eugene Hay, United States attorney, was a guest at the Spalding to-day.
